

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

I offer a money-back guarantee because I want you to feel confident in your decision and investment in this process of working together. I know you want to have big shifts and AHA moments as much as I want you to experience them. Those internal shifts are why I do this work.

My programs are designed to create those big internal shifts so you can have the life you are meant to live. In my heart I know that if you put your mind and soul into doing the work, you will experience these shifts. Other clients have shared their journeys, even after we completed our work together. You see, the work you do and the changes you make will have a profound impact on you for the rest of your life. I don't want my clients to waste one more second in their unhappiness, discontentment, or misery. Therefore, these programs are designed to be interactive and allow you to learn and apply what resonates most with you.

If for some reason, you are one of the few who just doesn't experience any shifts in your life after doing the work for the first 30 days (after the first module of the course is delivered to you), then my money-back guarantee will kick in. That's a promise!

However, the guarantee I offer is conditional...Why? Because when you and I work together, we set the intention to have big results. These big results don't happen without work on the part of both of us. For me, I use my skills and experience to help you navigate difficult issues that may be keeping you from achieving what you crave. For you, those results won't come without big action on your part. I believe we have a shared responsibility on this journey and you have to commit to do your work in order to see results.

So, if you decide to ask for a refund, I'd love to see everything you have done to date and I want to know you committed to the program with dedication to getting results. I'll be looking for completed assignments done in a timely manner, your level of engagement, and how much effort you put into going through the materials. If you show me all that I have asked for and you still aren't getting results, then I'll process your refund – no problem!

If the guarantee becomes null and void, I would still love to see if there is a way we can salvage your desire to make change and would welcome the opportunity to have a discussion with you to see if we could make that happen. I want you to have the the experience I described when you first signed up, if not something even greater!

As a Life Coach, I often use the analogy of being like a Personal Trainer. As an example, you could contract with a Personal Trainer for some number of sessions over a couple of months. You begin strong, but quickly fall into a pattern of missed appointments, not keeping track of your meals, not doing the daily exercise outside of your appointments, etc. Would you still expect to lose weight or develop great muscle tone and/or flexibility? I would venture to say your response would be a discouraged "no".

The difference here is I want you to succeed and I offer support in many forms along with accountability to help keep you on track. Remember, this is a journey! We love getting quick results, but it often takes a few months to get the results you didn't even think were possible when you started. It has taken us a long time to develop these patterns that no longer work for us – and they won't disappear overnight! So, here's to your success!
